Dear Sir or Madam:

I am a creative and self-starting individual seeking opportunities to employ my visual skills and hospitality experience. I am passionate about and knowledgeable in the areas of politics, art, illustration, design, leadership, and service. My talents, natural leadership skills, and ability to learn new things quickly would be an asset for any company. Listed below are some of my qualifications:

- BFA in Studio Art cum laude and with departmental honors from Appalachian State University.
- Over two years journalistic experience working with student newspaper, The Appalachian.
- Over five years combined experience in customer service working in retail and museum settings.
- Proficient with Microsoft Word and has working knowledge of Adobe Creative Suite, able to operate and learn new software quickly and by self-teaching.
- Served as keynote speaker at event in Universal City, Texas to crowd of 190.
- Professional-level writing skills built via college education and student newspaper experience.
- Writing skills exhibited in eighty-four page book written for senior honors thesis.
- Developed decision-making skills from experience of handling regular deadlines.
- Adept at multi-tasking. Drew two editorial cartoons a week in college for The Appalachian from 2012 to 2014, meeting deadlines regularly. Simultaneously maintained at least 12 credit hours, a 3.50 GPA, while completing departmental honors and working part-time at an additional job.
- Desires to work, serve, and team up with other ambitious, dedicated, and positive individuals.

I would enjoy meeting with you or talking with you via email to discuss opportunities you have available. I can be contacted at email address listed above and on my résumé. Thank you, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Andrew David Cox
